"One Stop" Healthcare Reform Web Site

Columbus, OH- December 11, 2008- B2B Knowledge Source Inc. launched a free, "one stop" healthcare reform website for the healthcare industry that compliments recently announced community based efforts of the incoming administration.

At www.b2bknowledgesource.com, healthcare professionals, insurers, policy makers and students will find the influential white paper "The U.S. Healthcare System" which has provided thought leadership in identifying to politicians, business leaders and trade groups, the reasons contributing to the high cost of delivering healthcare in the United States.

Other site features include Proposal Central, where healthcare proposals can be uploaded for peer review/comment; Forums for providers, payers, academia/research and others to collaborate operational best practices, cutting edge research, debate impact of various new plans, policies, standards or market structures. Specific forum groups "White Board", "Academia & Research" and "Regulation and Policy" allow for documents to be uploaded for peer brainstorming, review and comment.
